

April 23, 2021, VMware announced in an SEC filing that Pat Gelsinger has made a personal decision to step down from the VMware Board of Directors, given the demands of his new position as CEO of Intel. We are grateful for his many years of service on the Board, and for his tenure as CEO of VMware.